

internship
objective-c developer
at envis precisely
starting sept. 2010

we are a studio for interaction design based in Munich, Germany. We design what people see, hear and feel when interacting with a product.

design interactive installations for exhibitions and museums as well as interfaces for devices and software.

are offering you a six month internship as a design oriented programmer.

you

are currently enrolled in a program on computer science, software engineering or a related field.

want to use your knowledge in exciting projects.

have the ability to work independently and want to take responsibility.

are experienced in both front end and back end programming.

are passionate about aesthetics and user experience.

are experienced in developing for Mac and iPhone.

Send your application (with CV and portfolio) to:
jobs@envis-precisely.com